Queries:

- 1) Joe Sorbello requested information about a newspaper he owns. It is a copy of the Ulster Gazette, published 4 Jan 1800, which described the death of George Washington. I sent him information provided by the Library of Congress to help him determine if he had a copy or an original.
- 2) Jonathan Flynn, 36 Grand St. asked if we had any early photos of his house. I found a postcard in our collection (circa 1900) that showed a view of Grand St. looking north from the Episcopal Church. I sent him a copy.

Abraham Elting Cemetery – now known as the New Paltz Landing Slave Cemetery:

- 1) On 15 May, the chief and I took a group of town officials to visit the completed cemetery.
- 2) In June, I will post details for people who want to visit the site.

Franny Reese Park:

I noticed that a piece of Franny Reese Park in the tax auction to be held June 10. The parcel is a 50' by 500' strip of land that was previously used a road from Macks Lane to the area which is now Franny Reese Park. It is shown of the Scenic Hudson Preliminary Master plan as the only access to the park which is handicap accessible. Protecting this access is vital to the future development of the park.

I immediately notified Scenic Hudson, but received no response. With the help of Gerado and Ann in the Assessor's office, I learned about the history of this parcel: An undivided 50% of the parcel is owned by Palisade Interstate Parkway Commission and is tax exempt. The other undivided 50% is owned by Anthony Pezzo and Leslie Lindhe and is not tax-exempt. Both gentlemen have died and the taxes have not been paid on their share. I compiled a history of the sales of this parcel.

I explained the situation to the supervisor; he contacted Ulster County Real Property and the town attorney. While we were waiting for a response, I contacted Michelle Hinchey, John Jacobson and Palisade Interstate Park Commission. All three responded immediately and are investigating.

Due to the Supreme Court's decision of May 25, 2023, Ulster County has postponed the auction. This will give us more time to sort out this problem.
